BEFORE YOU START

Start Here

Ten minutes here will save you months of guessing. Read this section first, then go level by level.

How this guide works

This guide takes you from Level 0, where you have no audience yet, to Level 100, where you have a large and loyal audience, real income and a system that keeps running without burning you out. Each level builds on the one before it. Read them in order the first time, then come back to any level whenever you need it.

Every level follows the same pattern:

- Know. The ideas that matter, explained in plain words.
- Do. Steps, settings, scripts and templates you can use the same day.
- Level up. A checklist at the end. Tick every box before you move on. When growth stalls, the reason is almost always an empty box.

DO THIS NOW

Act as you read

Every time you reach a Do this now box, stop and do it before you read on. People who act while they read get results. People who only collect tips don’t.

The level map

Here is the whole journey on one page. Each level shows the stage where it matters most, but the skills stack: an account with 100,000 followers still uses Level 40 every single day.

0	The Foundations How Instagram really decides who sees your content, and the few rules that never change.	Before your first post
10	Find Your Niche Pick a topic you can own, so Instagram knows exactly who to show you to.	Before your first post
20	A Profile That Converts Your profile turns visitors into followers. Get it right before you ask anyone to visit.	0 followers
30	Plan Content People Want A simple system that gives you endless ideas and a clear plan for every week.	0 to 100 followers
40	Create Content That Hooks Hooks, scripts, filming and editing: the craft that decides whether people watch.	100 to 1,000 followers
50	Work With the Algorithm How distribution really works on each part of Instagram, and which myths to ignore.	Around 1,000 followers
60	Accelerate Your Growth Shareable ideas, trends, collabs and daily habits that multiply your reach.	1,000 to 10,000 followers
70	Read Your Numbers Find out what's working, fix what isn't, and improve on purpose instead of by accident.	Around 10,000 followers
80	Build a Real Community Turn followers into fans who comment, share, buy and stick with you.	10,000 to 100,000 followers
90	Turn Followers Into Income Brand deals, products, services and Instagram's own tools, with a simple way to price your work.	From about 5,000 followers
100	Scale and Last Systems, a team and a brand that keep growing without burning you out.	100,000 to 1,000,000 followers

The growth equation

Every account grows through the same three numbers. When growth is slow, one of them is broken, and every level in this guide fixes one or more of them.

Reach

How many new people see your posts. Driven by hooks, watch time, shares and how well Instagram understands your topic.

Conversion

How many of those people choose to follow. Driven by a clear niche, a strong profile and a promise of more to come.

Retention

How many keep watching, engaging and buying. Driven by quality, consistency and a real community.

How fast can you grow?

Some accounts grow from zero to a million in a few months. It happens, and this guide shows you what those accounts do differently. It isn't the usual path, though, and anyone who promises it to you is selling something.

Fast growers almost always have these five things in common:

1. A focused topic with mass appeal. Narrow enough to be known for one thing, wide enough that millions care about it.
2. High output during the growth phase. Often a Reel a day or more, for months.
3. Short learning loops. They publish, read the numbers within 48 hours, change one thing and publish again.
4. A breakout post with a profile ready for it. When a wave of new people arrives, the profile turns them into followers.
5. Patience long enough for luck to find them. Most breakouts arrive after dozens of posts that didn't break out.

REALITY CHECK

Measure in posts, not in weeks

Judge your account after your first 90 posts, not your first 9. Early posts teach Instagram who to show you to, and they teach you what works. Most people quit just before the compounding starts.

What you need

- A smartphone with a decent camera. Every technique in this guide works with a phone.
- Thirty to ninety minutes a day, most days. Level 0 helps you plan the time.
- Free tools to begin with. Paid tools are optional, and mentioned only where they genuinely save time.

LEVEL 0 Before your first post

The Foundations

0

How Instagram really decides who sees your content, and the few rules that never change.

0.1

How Instagram decides what people see

Instagram has one job: keep each person happy enough to come back tomorrow. To do that, it predicts what every individual is most likely to watch, like, share and save, then ranks content in that order. There is no single “algorithm”. Feed, Stories, Explore and Reels each have their own ranking, tuned to how people use that part of the app.

Adam Mosseri, the head of Instagram, has said the three signals that matter most are these:

Watch time

How long people watch your Reel, and whether they finish it or watch it again.

Sends per reach

How many viewers sent it to someone in a DM. The biggest signal for reaching people who don’t follow you yet.

Likes per reach

How many viewers liked it. It matters most with people who already follow you.

Almost everything in this guide comes back to these three. Make things people watch to the end and send to a friend, and Instagram does the distribution for you.

0.2

Followers are a result, not a goal

Most of your growth will come from people who don’t follow you yet, seeing your Reels and carousels in Explore, the Reels tab and recommended posts in Feed. Your follower count is simply how many of those people liked what they saw enough to want more of it.

That changes how you think about every post:

- You are not posting “to your followers”. You are posting to the right strangers.
- A post that reaches 10,000 strangers but wins almost no follows has a profile problem (Level 20) or a niche problem (Level 10).

- A post that reaches only your followers has a hook problem or a shareability problem (Levels 40 and 60).

0.3

The three jobs of every post

1. Stop the scroll

The first second decides everything: a clear visual, a bold line of text, a question the viewer needs answered.

2. Deliver the value

Teach, entertain, inspire or make someone feel understood. Pay off the hook's promise, quickly.

3. Earn the follow

Give people a reason to want more: a series, a strong point of view, a hint of what comes next.

0.4

Set your goal

Your goal decides your niche, your content and how you will earn. Choose the one that matters most to you right now.

Goal	What success looks like	Content focus
Personal brand	Known as the go-to person for your topic	Expertise, opinions, your story
Business growth	Enquiries, bookings and sales every week	Proof, offers, education, behind the scenes
Creator income	Brand deals, products and affiliate income	Entertainment or education with wide appeal
Community	A loyal group around a shared interest	Conversation, participation, belonging

TEMPLATE

Your 12-month goal

In 12 months, I want NUMBER followers who are WHO THEY ARE, so that I can WHAT IT GIVES YOU.

EXAMPLE

"In 12 months, I want 50,000 followers who are busy working parents, so that I can sell my 4-week home workout plan and land fitness brand deals."

0.5

Plan your time

Growth is mostly a time question. Be honest about how many hours a week you can protect, then pick the plan that fits. A small plan you keep beats a big plan you abandon.

Time per week	A realistic plan	Best for
3 to 4 hours	3 Reels, 1 carousel, Stories on 3 days	Busy professionals and business owners
7 to 10 hours	5 Reels, 2 carousels, Stories every day	A serious side project
15 hours or more	A Reel every day, 3 carousels, daily Stories, a Live each month	Fast growth and full-time creators

0.6

The rules that never change

1. Original beats reposted. Instagram reduces the reach of reposted content and of videos carrying other apps' watermarks. Make your own, or add real value when you remix someone else's.
2. Consistency beats intensity. Posting daily for two weeks and then vanishing for a month throws your momentum away. A steady plan wins.
3. The viewer defines quality. Not your effort and not your likes in the first hour. Watch time and shares are the verdict.
4. Clarity beats cleverness. If a stranger can't tell what your account is about in five seconds, it isn't clear enough yet.
5. Growth compounds. Every good post teaches Instagram who to show your next one to. Early progress feels slow because every curve starts flat.

⚠ AVOID THIS

Shortcuts that wreck accounts

Never buy followers, likes or views, and never use apps that follow and unfollow for you or trade engagement in groups. Fake followers don't watch, so your watch time and engagement rates fall, Instagram shows your posts to fewer real people, brands notice straight away, and accounts using these services can be restricted.

0.7

Before your first post

DO THIS NOW

Set up your safety net (10 minutes)

- Turn on two-factor authentication in Accounts Centre > Password and security > Two-factor authentication. Use an authenticator app, not just SMS.
- Open Settings and activity, search for Account Status and check that your content can be recommended. Come back here whenever your reach suddenly drops.
- Write your 12-month goal and your weekly time plan somewhere you will see them every day.

LEVEL-UP CHECKLIST

You're ready for Level 10 when

- [ ] You can explain the three signals: watch time, sends per reach and likes per reach
- [ ] You have written your 12-month goal using the template
- [ ] You have chosen a weekly time plan you can actually keep
- [ ] Two-factor authentication is on, and you know where Account Status lives
- [ ] You have promised yourself not to judge the account before 90 posts
